Plan your travel

Getting to the Olympic Park

Great news! You can use the Games Travelcard sent to you with your ticket for free travel on public transport in London zones 1-9 on the day of the Closing Ceremony, including to and from the Olympic Park. The recommended stations are:

Stratford – around 15-minute walk

Stratford International – around 15-minute walk

West Ham – around 25-minute walk

London will be very busy so leave plenty of time to get to the Olympic Park and be prepared for crowds. Plan and book your journey at london2012.com/paralympics/travel and check it before you set off as things may change.

Or why not take the active option and get on your bike? There's secure cycle parking outside Greenway Gate.

There is no spectator parking at the Olympic Park, except for pre-booked Blue Badge spaces.

For days when you're not going to a London 2012 sports event or ceremony, beat the queues for travel tickets and buy a Visitor Oyster card before you leave home at tfl.gov.uk/visitorshop

Accessible travel

If you've reserved Blue Badge parking, you'll receive details in the post soon. For more information, go to london2012.com/paralympics/bluebadge

Stratford and Stratford International are the recommended stations with step-free access and staff assistance available.

Games Mobility

Inside the Olympic Park you can use our free Games Mobility service, which loans out mobility vehicles on a first come, first served basis. Audio description and guiding are also available. Find out more at london2012.com/paralympics/accessibility

Top tips

Welcome

This guide includes handy tips to help you get to the Closing Ceremony and make the most of your Paralympic experience. So have a good read – and don't forget to bring it on the day!

Arriving at the Olympic Park

Aim to arrive early – the gates to the Olympic Park will open at 5.30pm*. You need to be in your seat inside the Olympic Stadium by 7.30pm at the latest, in time for the pre-show.

When you get to the Olympic Park, you'll be asked to go through airport-style security screening. With thousands of visitors arriving at the same time, there may be a queue.

One soft-sided bag is allowed per person – for example, a medium-sized handbag or small backpack (maximum 25 litres).

We want everyone to have a safe and enjoyable Games, so there are some things you can't bring into the Olympic Park. Go to london2012.com/paralympics/security for the full list, which includes water and other liquids.

You'll need to have your ticket ready to be checked at the entrances to the Olympic Park and the Stadium.

Arriving at the Olympic Stadium

The Stadium will open at 5.30pm*. It could take around 15 minutes to get there once you've gone through security screening.

Please note that the majority of the Olympic Park will be closed for the Closing Ceremony – just follow directions from staff. Your ticket will show you which bridge to use as you approach the Stadium.

*All information, including gate opening times, is correct at the time of going to print. You'll receive an email with detailed arrangements nearer to the event.

1 Check the London 2012 website for the latest information, including gate opening times, a few days before

2 Remember your tickets! Everyone needs a ticket for entry

3 Aim to arrive at the Olympic Park early – you should be in your seat inside the Stadium by 7.30pm at the latest

4 The transport system will be very busy so leave plenty of time to travel. London Underground trains will run into the early hours to help you get home

5 You'll need to go through airport-style security when you arrive so make sure you've read the list of items that aren't allowed inside the Olympic Park at london2012.com/paralympics/security

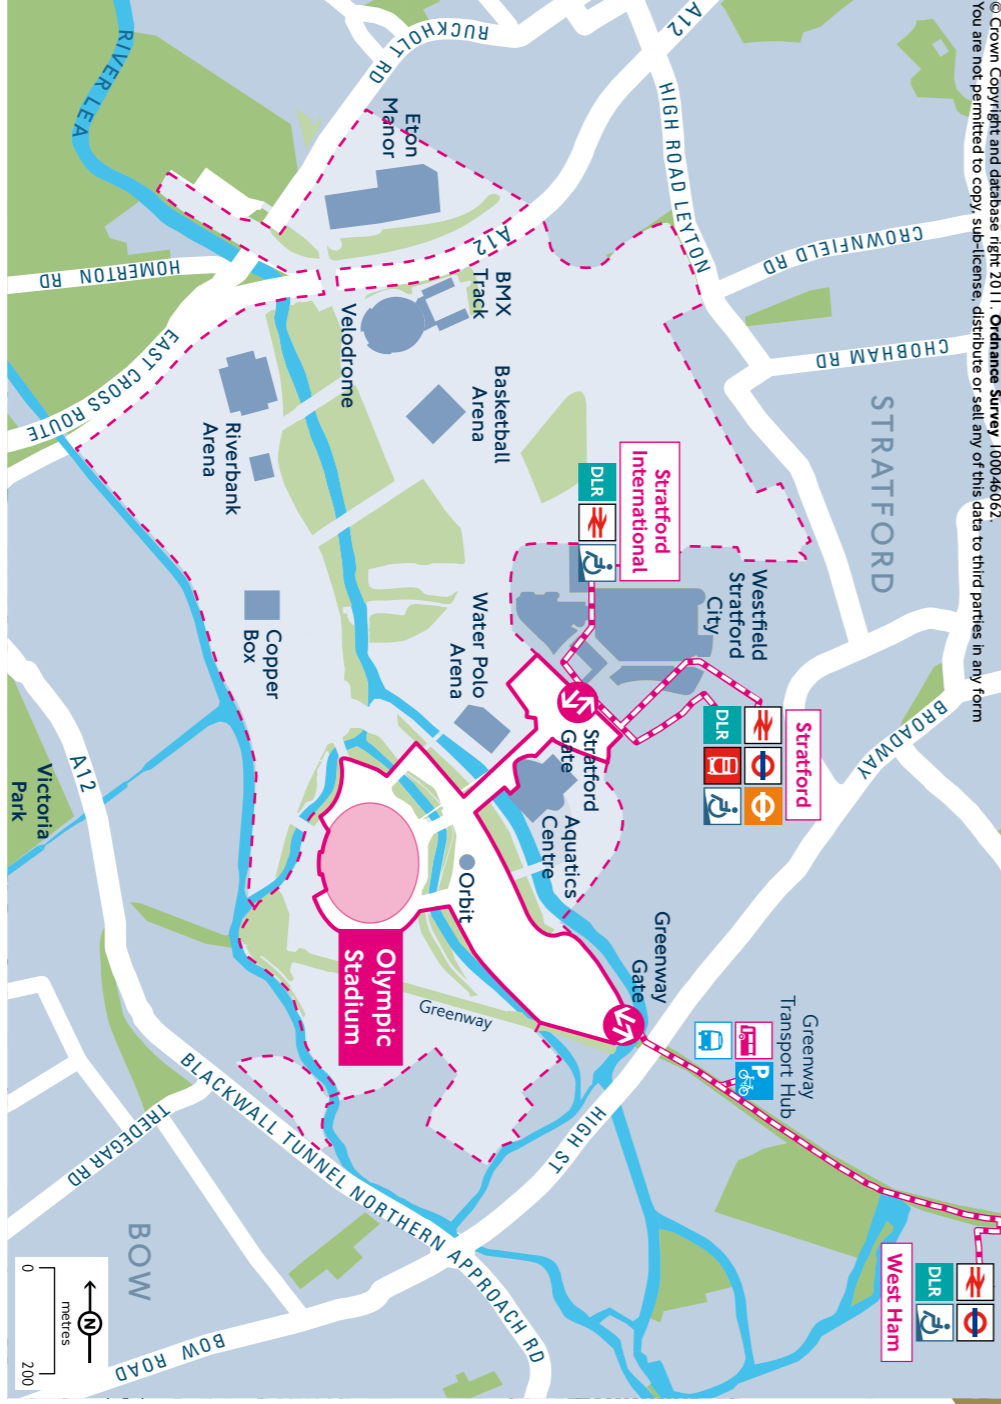

6 Your bag must fit under your seat or on your lap. If you can manage without one, even better

7 There's a wide variety of healthy and tasty food around the Stadium

8 You can pay by Visa (debit, credit or prepaid) or cash (£) only

9 The Stadium is an open-air venue so check the weather forecast and come prepared, whether that means bringing a sun hat or rain jacket – we are in the UK after all!

10 Please be aware that the Closing Ceremony will feature flashing lights and loud noises

Closing Ceremony

The Closing Ceremony will provide a breathtaking finale to the Paralympic Games, celebrating the efforts and achievements of all the athletes who competed.

By the time you're sitting in the Olympic Stadium on 9 September, a huge production team will have worked tirelessly to create a dazzling spectacle that embraces the Paralympic Values of courage, determination, inspiration and equality.

In the midst of all the celebration and entertainment, you'll see some protocols and traditions that are common features of every Paralympic Closing Ceremony. We don't want to give away too much just yet, but to give you an idea of what you can expect...

Flag bearers of participating countries will enter the Stadium, followed by the spectacular Parade of Athletes. Unlike the Opening Ceremony, the athletes will enter together and not by nation – a show of great unity after 11 days of intense competition.

Artistic Director

Kim Gavin trained at the Royal Ballet School. After a successful career as one of television's leading dancers, he turned to choreography and creative direction.

After the Paralympic Flag has been lowered, the flag of Brazil (Host Nation of the next Paralympic Games) will be raised, signifying the handover from London to Rio de Janeiro.

Sir Philip Craven, President of the International Paralympic Committee, and Seb Coe, Chair of the London 2012 Organising Committee, will then address the assembled crowd and the Paralympic Flame will be extinguished, marking the conclusion of London 2012.

Did you know?

Around 4,200 athletes are expected to compete in the London 2012 Paralympic Games – more than at any previous Paralympic Games.

Gavin is the creative force behind some of the biggest live events in recent years, including the Concert For Diana in 2007, the 2010 Help for Heroes Concert and Take That's critically acclaimed stadium tours – Circus in 2009 and Progress in 2011.
